

I fail to understand how allowing Sinclair Broadcasting to air one hour of anti-Kerry material can be considered anything but an "in-kind" donation when it is run during the presidential campaign in which Kerry is one of the contenders.

This demonstrates to me the need to make the media ownership regulations more strenuous so that our democracy can be preserved rather than subverted by a few wealthy business tycoons as occurs so frequently in third world countries.